Hey there!

We are Mad About Pandas, an award-winning Berlin-based game dev studio. We are currently growing our team to support our current project, an exciting AA production with a leading publisher. We recently released the narrative game Hitchhiker on PS4, XBOX, Switch, PC, Apple Arcade and VR, and have been producing acclaimed indie titles for more than a decade.

We are currently working from home for the most part but want to eventually transition into a hybrid home + office solution while giving employees freedom to decide on which days they come in.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Responsible for integrating, adjusting & optimizing assets created by other artists
- Play a key role in the production and implementation of art assets in the pipeline
- Act as the link between art and coding team
- Create & maintain effects, shaders and tools for artists and designers
- Participate in the creative process & decision making

QUALIFICATIONS:

- Good understanding of code (C#, Unity)
- Understanding of Unity Render Pipelines and connected systems
- Knowledge of common tools for art creation (Photoshop, Blender, Substance)
- Understanding the work done by both artists and developers
- Communication and troubleshooting skills
- Proposing and creating technical solutions
- The willingness to work in a team and communicate with each other

PERKS:

- Help create a game from the very beginning
- Make creative & unique games! We are passionate about the projects we undertake
- Join a studio with an established track record shipping acclaimed titles
- Team culture where everyone has a seat at the table and your voice is heard
- We offer a flexible work environment with our great office workspace in Berlin-Neukölln
